

Office of the Director of Central Intelligence

12 April 1974

TO : Mr. Stoertz

SUBJECT: DCI Request

1. Attached is a self-explanatory note from the DCI requiring a response. The preparation of the response is something that should be carried out under your supervision.

2. After you have had a chance to digest and reflect on the attached, I would like to chat briefly with you about it before we proceed further. As you will recall, the paragraph labeled A was discussed at the USIB table when 11-8 was considered. I myself had some reservations -- based on logic, not knowledge -- about the "no foreseeable circumstances" phrase. I was too diffident about my factual information to enter into the actual debate, but simply from the standpoint of logic, that phrase takes in an awful lot of territory. It can be negated by someone's dreaming up one realistically conceivable -- hence "foreseeable" -- circumstance.

3. To my lay eye, the section marked B is less open to plausible attack. Its message may not be particularly palatable, but from what little I know of the subject, it is hard to confute. It could be faulted on syntax, but I think it would be hard to fault on substance.
